Tips for Preparing Your Vehicle for Hurricane Season

Make sure you always have enough fuel in your gas tank. You never know when you may need to move your vehicle, or evacuate.

Check your tires and brakes. You want to make sure your tires have enough tread, and tire pressure. In addition, you also want to make sure your brakes are still in good working order, so you can combat a drive through a storm.

Have a safety plan and safety kit ready to go. You never know when you may need to do an emergency evacuation during hurricane season!
