ABOUT THE POSITIVE CHANGE EFFIES

The Positive Change Effie Awards, launched and run in collaboration with the World Economic Forum, recognize and celebrate the most effective marketing programs that have measurably shifted consumer behavior toward more sustainable choices, and/or grown demand for more sustainable products and services by incorporating sustainability as a part of their marketing communications.

Eligible efforts must have had as one of their core strategic objectives to change the behavior of consumers towards more sustainable choices.

Criterion for this award is the result of behavior change toward more sustainable choices, with these elements being considered in judging:

- Awareness – Making consumers aware of a sustainable product, service or action
- Trial – Trying the sustainable product or service for the first time.
- Product / Service Substitution – Switching to a more sustainable product/service
- Change in Use – Using a product/service more sustainably than before

Entries into the 2015 competition needed to run in the marketplace between September 1, 2012 and October 31, 2014 in Europe or North America.

LETTER FROM THE 2015 GLOBAL POSITIVE CHANGE EFFIE CHAIR

The launch of the Positive Change Effie in 2015, in collaboration with the World Economic Forum, is a valuable and timely edition to the Effie Worldwide suite. This is a critical year for engaging consumers in more sustainable practices and marketers have a huge role to play in this. With the adoption of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in September and a United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) in December, we have a unique opportunity this year to mobilise the world at scale on the issues of climate change and human development. The power of brands to engage citizens to raise awareness and incite action around these two global agendas cannot be underestimated. We need to think creatively about the role our brands and communications can play in connecting and inspiring every person on the planet to act now to change the course of the future.

This award, with its focus on how brands can make a positive environmental difference, is therefore a critical recognition of the work that marketers are already doing in this space. As Chair of the judging team, I speak on behalf of my fellow judges when I say that the quality of work we have seen come through the process in this inaugural year has been inspirational. I am sure that this will only increase year on year as consumer demand for brands who are not only the best in the world but best FOR the world grows. Particularly memorable this year were those entries which focused on taking waste out of the system, entries which are driving movements to deliver system-wide sustainable change and those that aimed to raise mass awareness of sustainable living issues, and more importantly, solutions, for many to take on.

Congratulations to all those who entered the competition on the standard of their submissions, and of course, special congratulations to the winners!

FINALISTS

Effie Award finalists are selected based on scores after the rigorous first round of judging. Making the shortlist of finalists is a significant achievement. Finalist status indicates that a case is among the most effective examples of marketing communications. Additionally, all finalists and winners will receive points toward the Effie Effectiveness Index – the annual worldwide ranking of marketing communications effectiveness for agencies, advertisers, and brands.

Congratulations to this year's finalists.
