Emergency Services

Wireless E-911 (E9-1-1)

When you dial 9-1-1 from your MTS Wireless phone or smartphone your call will be routed to the 9-1-1 emergency operator in your area.

No matter which type of wireless phone or smartphone you are using, calls to 9-1-1 will provide emergency operators with your wireless number and the location of the cellular tower handling your call.

If you dial 9-1-1 from a wireless phone that is A-GPS (Assisted-Global Positioning System) capable the emergency service operator will be able to better determine your approximate location.

Important to note:

Calls to 9-1-1 (like any calls from a wireless phone) are affected by a number of factors including whether your phone has battery power, signal strength, and if service is available in your municipality. Availability and accuracy of the location information is affected by a number of factors, including whether a call is made indoors or from a covered or underground location. You can only make 9-1-1 calls from a phone or smartphone. Use 9-1-1 only for emergency voice calls. Text messaging (SMS) to 9-1-1 is not supported and will not connect you with a 9-1-1 operator.

To be safe, when dialing 9-1-1 from a wireless phone, it is very important to follow existing cell phone safety best practices.

For more information on wireless 911 service, please visit mts.ca/wireless911.

Cell Phone Safety

In the unfortunate event that you need to call 9-1-1, there are some very important safety tips that are worth remembering to ensure that you receive the help you need.

- Indicate the nature of the emergency that you are calling about and the emergency services required.
- The operator may not know your cell number or location, so please be prepared to provide both your 10-digit phone number and a detailed description of the surrounding area (e.g. street address, exit numbers, street signs, and landmarks).
- Wait for the operator to tell you it is okay to hang up.
- Leave your phone on so that the operator can call you back.

To ensure that you do not accidentally call 9-1-1, please do not program 9-1-1 into your phone.

Texting During an Emergency

Most mobile phones can send text messages, but remember that you cannot send text messages to 9-1-1. However, T9-1-1 (Text with 9-1-1) is a service that provides 9-1-1 call centres with the ability to communicate with a deaf, hard of hearing, or speech impaired person during an emergency, using wireless text messaging. Customers must register for T9-1-1 service with their wireless service provider and have an eligible wireless device. Visit mts.ca/t911 for more details.
