

2017 culture days activity guide

September 29, 30 & October 1, 2017

Try something new!

Experience culture in your community.

WHAT IS CULTURE DAYS?

Culture Days is a national collaborative movement designed to raise the awareness, accessibility, participation and engagement of Canadians in the arts and cultural life of their communities. It takes place the last weekend in September each year. Since 2009, Culture Days has been hosted across the country by thousands of communities eager to engage citizens in active cultural experiences that inspire creativity, generate new interests, contribute to life-long learning and ultimately, build community! Culture Days has become the largest and most effective arts and cultural public engagement in Canada's history!

Since its inception, over 100 Saskatchewan communities have hosted over 1,000 activities, engaging over 200,000 people in cultural activity over the three day weekend. In Canada, over 8 million Canadians have taken the opportunity to engage in one or more of the 50,000 registered Culture Days activities. Saskatchewan officially proclaims Culture Days each year, along with dozens of communities around the province!

IT'S AN OPPORTUNITY!

Cultural activity is alive in Saskatchewan 365 days a year! Culture Days is just an opportunity to raise awareness of the cultural life in your community! From tipi-raising to printmaking, to storytelling to walking tours, there are hundreds of free, interactive cultural activities taking place around the province...some are right in your community. Explore this guide or go online at www.culturedays.ca to find out what is taking place in your area.

98% of attendees surveyed said they were satisfied with their Culture Days experience. 75% said they tried Something New at Culture Days!

TRY SOMETHING NEW!

Have you ever wanted to work with clay, learn to dance, explore your heritage, or just talk to an artist about starting a particular art form? Here's your chance. Saskatchewan has a very vibrant cultural community that is eager to get others involved. Many events and activities are family friendly and offer a great opportunity make some great connections in your community. Grab a mic and sing, or write a poem. Felt, spin, weave, paint, carve, jig, share a story, cook, collage, connect, learn about history, hear stories, and open yourself to the benefits of cultural experience.

79% experienced greater pride in their community as a result of participating. 74% said arts and cultural events in their community make it a much more enjoyable place to live.

FLYING DUST FIRST NATION

Elders and Youth Medicinal Gathering
Saturday, Sept. 30- 9:30 to 5:00 pm
Flotton Lake Campground.

Flying Dust First Nations Elders will teach youth how to pick medicinal herbs. The importance of plants for medicinal purposes will also be taught. Participants will learn to identify the type of plants traditionally used to treat illness and heal wounds: Seneca root (removing mucous from lungs), wild mind (to treat stomach problems such as indigestion, stomach ache, colic and diarrhea), rat root (to cure tooth-aches), chokecherries (the bark is boiled and drank as a cough medicine), and other plants gathered for their medicinal properties. Participants will learn how to use plants as poultices and in healing teas, as well as learning drum songs, singing and chants. Elders will also teach participants about the traditional harvesting sites, and seasonal sites of different roots/plants within the Flying Dust traditional territory. Flying Dust First Nation heritage has been based on generational teachings of harvesting sites of game, herbs and medicines, which has all passed down through oral teachings and been confirmed through historical research. Pre-registration required.

Nuit Blanche: Amalie Atkins – Aprons
 9 Mile Legacy
 229 20 Street West

Amalie Atkins is a Saskatoon-based filmmaker whose work is exhibited internationally. She is showing one of her newest films, Aprons, a quiet kitchen opera set inside her grandparent's home. The approximately five minute film will screen twice, back to back, every half hour starting at 7:00 pm, with the score performed live by Saskatoon Symphony Orchestra members. Funding provided by 9 Mile Legacy.

Nuit Blanche: Andreas Buchwaldt – (de)compressions

650 Broadway Ave.
 Parking lot at the former site of Lydia's Pub

(de)compressions is a moving robotic sculpture to be installed on the former location of Lydia's Pub. The work is a transforming architecture that will change shape over the course of the night, referencing the building that once stood there while alluding to the future of the site. It will be constructed from a network of aluminum struts animated by electric motors, dynamic scaffolding that fluctuates between collapse and completion – as structure in transit. (Funded by Saskatchewan Arts Board and a Community Fellowship, Interdisciplinary Centre for Culture and Community, University of Saskatchewan.)

Nuit Blanche: Cate Francis
 – Interactive Mural

Broadway neighbourhood

Saskatoon-based printmaker Cate Francis will lead Nuit Blanche attendees in the creation and installation of a collaborative mural. The mural will be composed of hundreds of brightly coloured and glow-in-the-dark screen prints that visitors will be invited to collage onto the side of a building using a non-toxic, wheat paste adhesive. Cate will demonstrate the proper way to adhere the prints and provide guidance on how to arrange them to create an aesthetically-pleasing mural. A screen printing station will also be set up at the site, allowing visitors to print their own glow in the dark image to take home.

Nuit Blanche: Colby Richardson
 – Under the Bridge

Under the Sid Buckwold Bridge

Come out for an interactive projection taking place under the Sid Buckwold Bridge.

Nuit Blanche: Curtis Peeteetuce
 – Immemorial

Amphitheatre at River Landing
 414 Spadina Crescent E.

A unique performing arts presentation, Immemorial is a storytelling piece that takes viewers from the beginning of time to the present-day, told through one lens of a Cree man.

Nuit Blanche: Dani Dale
 – Landmarks Lost

The Scoop Ice Cream Shack – parking lot
 Southwest corner of 20th and Av. B

Landmarks Lost is an exploration of Saskatoon through landmarks that no longer exist. Images of some of these landmarks will be projected onto a grid made up of 30 metal plates covered in phosphorescent paint. In 15 second intervals the light will cut out, leaving only a ghostly glow of what was once standing, not unlike our memories of these landmarks. Viewers will be able to reminisce about buildings that once stood and the memories made in these spaces.

Nuit Blanche: Dee Lowe
 Alley behind Saskatchewan
 Craft Council, 813 Broadway Ave.

This project consists of sewn paper and fabric dress forms that will hang from clotheslines behind the Saskatchewan Craft Council. The sway of the paper and cloth in the breeze are intended to give viewers the feeling they are standing in the backyard of a doll's house. Viewers are also encouraged to cut and reform materials to make their own clotheslines, become part of the installation.

Saturday, Sept. 30 – 7:00 pm to 1:00 am

Nuit Blanche: Monique Blom and Arantxa Araujo – Meeting the Challenge Provincial Court Building – Parking Lot 220 19th Street E.

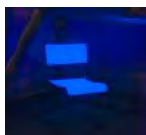

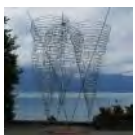

A performance in response to recent provincial budget cuts. It will educate and teach the public how to make better cuts on behalf of our provincial leaders. For the performance, Monique and Arantxa will set-up a butcher stand and burning barrel, asking visitors to explore how to make the 'right kind of cuts'. They will cut into a meat-like substance, wrap this meat in 'legal papers' and cut wood to fuel the fire that will burn throughout the night to cook the 'meat'.

Nuit Blanche: Indigenous Poets Society – Aprons

Riversdale, Broadway & Downtown

The Indigenous Poets' Society are a group of Plains Cree poets based on Treaty Six Territory, in the city of Saskatoon. They consist of, but are not exclusive of, Kevin Wesaquate, Tala Tootoosis, Lindsay "eekwol" Knight and eco aborijanelle. Newo involves the four poets talking turns on a mobile "podium" that they are creating based on the land. They will engage in small sets of one poem each through the evening, moving throughout the Riversdale, Downtown and Broadway neighbourhoods.

Nuit Blanche: Beyond Blue SCYYAP

253 3rd Ave. S.

Beyond Blue is inspired by Blue Lagoon, a geo-thermal spa located in lava field outside Reykjavik, Iceland. After experiencing the sight of the other-worldly blue that emanates from the ground, Marie worked to find a material that could be used to emulate this experience, eventually finding a phosphorescent powder in Germany that absorbs light and slowly emulates this energy as a blue glow throughout the night. Over the course of the evening, the colour will slowly lose its charge, similar to the way sunlight fades over the course of a day.

Nuit Blanche: Laura Hale – Underpass Garden Architecture and Design

315 Avenue A. South

In the alley between the two halves

A temporary nighttime garden tunnel, created using flagging tape, a material normally used to make areas of interest or temporarily restrict access to a space. Viewers are invited to enter the space, passing through and under the brilliant canopy of colour.

Nuit Blanche: Monique Martin and Margaret Michel – Eclat

Venn Coffee Roasters

830 Dufferin Ave.

A kinetic art installation that will play with the use of light. Incorporating refraction and the overlapping of shadows, the installation will create patterns of light that will interact with the surrounding darkness and change throughout the night.

Nuit Blanche: Negar Tajgardan

– As we Remember!

Positive Passions

300 3rd Ave. S.

As we Remember! combines paper-based sculptures and wearable backpacks, both of which will be internally lit to glow during the night. Negar has been interviewing people who have recently moved to Saskatoon and for each participant creating a backpack, made from paper, based on their stories, indicating places, elements, or other visual elements they remember from their hometown city. Viewers will be invited to choose a backpack to wear as they walk around the block where As we Remember! Project is located.

Nuit Blanche: Otto Helmut Productions with Jordan Schwab – Southern Dandy Broadway Bridge

A scene from Southern Dandy 75, a locally written and acted play, will be performed throughout the night. The performance's light-based set was built by audience members of the play's run at Live Five Theatre, under the direction of Jordan Schwab. Southern Dandy 75 is an old-time comedy of a fanciful nature, fueled with adventure, poetry and booze.

Nuit Blanche: Scummy Magic

Broadway Theatre

715 Broadway Ave.

Scummy Magic, a Saskatoon-based sticker project, will be setting up their mobile sticker machine, dispensing hand-printed, glow-in-the-dark stickers and mini-posters specially made for Nuit Blanche Saskatoon.

Nuit Blanche: Overshadow 2

HSBC Building

Parking lot on west side

21st Street and 4th Avenue

Inspired by the space-age design and utopian aspirations of the 1970s, Overshadow 2 re-imagines an iconic geodesic dome as a plant in a strange eclipse. The illusion created obscures this vision of the future with images of contemporary life shot by the artist's teenage daughter. By simultaneously generating and exposing how the eclipse illusion is created, the video reflects on generations of human experience.

Nuit Blanche: SaskAcro-

Finding the Light

Freedom Functional Fitness

102 20th Street W.

Finding the Light is a dynamic piece of movement art that challenges viewers to find beauty in unexpected places and conversely to see the flaws in what we are told is beautiful. It invites viewers to step into a world of trust—a different way of viewing ourselves. All props, lighting and costume materials are being sourced through the Waste Not YXE community, re-purposing and upcycling existing resources rather than purchasing new. Combining spoken word, original music by Saskatoon-based artist, Sleepwreck, and the dynamic acro-yoga of SaskAcro, Finding the Light explores the grey area of narratives and emotions that are all too often cast as black and white. This event is held in partnership with Waste Not YXE, Alchemy and Green Tree Beauty.

Nuit Blanche: Sean Arden and Erin Siddall – Missaskwatoomina View River Landing – parking lot to the east of Ave. A and Spadina Roundabout

Missaskwatoomina View, a camera obscura installation, focuses on observation, the experience of seeing, and connection with the land from the specificity of its historical location. A camera obscura is a darkened space with an aperture for projecting a circular image onto a screen inside, similar to how the eye works. Missaskwatoomina View employs apertures, periscopes, angled mirrors and camera bellows to create a projection of two slowly evolving views outside, including accompanying text works. Missaskwatoomina View evokes fraught relationships between Riversdale, Downtown and Broadway areas and their changing histories: Northern Plains Indigenous peoples, fur trade, land speculation, transport of materials and colonists, contentious bridge crossings, changing racial diversity and current gentrification.

Nuit Blanche: Susan Mills – Glow-in-the-dark Books Village Green Thrift Shop Alley behind 127 20th Street W.

Saskatoon-based book artist Susan Mills will lead visitors in creating their own blank-paper notebook using hand-made paper crafted from common weeds in Saskatoon. As a come-and-go activity throughout the night of the festival, Susan will show participants how to sew and hand-bind their own notebook. The thread they use will be glow-in-the-dark, and the covers will also be printed using glow-in-the-dark inks, so participants can show off their books throughout the evening. Open to participants of all ages.

Nuit Blanche: Stephanie Kuse – SYZGY Alley between 2nd and 3rd Ave. & 20th and 21st Street

SYZGY is a video loop consisting of natural textures and patterns collected from around Saskatchewan that have been digitally manipulated to produce an entrancing psychedelic interpretation of the surrounding landscape. The result stands in contrast with its location in the heart of the city. The video installation is a union of opposites pairing soft visuals with hard surfaces in a space that is often looked upon as being undesirable. The combination of vibrant organic sights in an inorganic place is further unified by the addition of a subtle textural soundscape produced from field recordings by multi-instrumentalist Adam Logan, who performs as young hands (experimental/electronic) and as a part of Ponteix (francophone/psych/pop).

Nuit Blanche: Students at École Victoria School – Scintillating/Scintilla Installations along Broadway Avenue, Eastern alley between Broadway and Dufferin Ave.

A sparkling and brightly shining experience from the Broadway Bridge to off-Broadway back alleys. Students from École Victoria School, Georges Vanier Catholic Fine Arts School, St. Goretti Community School and St. Philip School have created sculptural and interactive artworks that use light as the focus. The installations were created under the direction of Monique Martin and Margaret Michel (Funding provided by Saskatchewan Arts Board, SaskCulture/Saskatchewan Lotteries, and Ministry of Education.)

Make Your Own Camera Sunday, Oct. 1

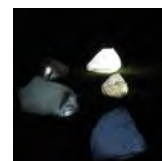

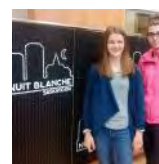

– 10:30 am to 2:30 pm

AKA Artist Run

424 20th Street West

In Make Your Own Camera, artists Erin Siddall and Sean Arden will show participants how to create their own pinhole camera. The workshop is hosted by AKA Artist-Run in conjunction with the artist's project Missaskwatoomina View, an enterable, site-specific camera obscura located temporarily within a freight container near River Landing. A camera obscura installation is in essence a huge pinhole camera. During the workshop, participants will learn the science and art of pinhole photography and classic darkroom processes. Cameras will be constructed using existing templates on card stock or sourced recycled materials, with hand-made apertures. Workshop participants will take a photo walk together into the surrounding neighbourhood to create their unique images.

The Deaf Forest Community Art Opening

Friday, Sept. 29 – 7:00 to 9:00 pm

Regina Public Library

2311 12th Avenue

Using art and theatre as culturally relevant pedagogy for deep cognitive learning, personal growth and solid community building, the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (DHH) students have emerged as an expressive force with perspectives to share, stories to tell and ideas to develop. The Deaf Forest is their first large-scale installation. It represents their perspectives of three distinct communities – the Hearing world, the Hard-of-hearing world and the Deaf World. This ambitious exhibit explores a powerful statement as a means to find understanding between these three distinct worlds. Produced by Thom Collegiate's Deaf and Hard of Hearing students in partnership with Joanne Weber, Chrystene Ellis and Berny Hi, and the Deaf Crows Collective.

Glen Anaquod Memorial Tipi Raising Competition

Friday, Sept. 29 – 9:00 am to 4:00 pm
Dr. Lloyd Barber Academic Green,
University of Regina

The Tipi Raising Competition was initiated by the late Cultural and Traditional Advisor Glen Anaquod, from the Muscowpetung First Nation. The Anaquod family previously participated in Tipi Raising competitions held during Treaty Four celebrations. It was Anaquod's long-standing wish to involve the university campus community, students and staff by hosting such a competition. The competition is open to the university community, high school students and the general public.

Prairie Word Jams: Just Write
with Regina Word Up
Friday, Sept. 29 – 7:00 to 8:00 pm
Creative City Centre
1843 Hamilton Street

Do you ever feel stuck waiting for inspiration to strike? Do you like the idea of writing but have trouble getting started? Do you find it more motivating to be part of a group than to write on your own? Just Write is a new drop-in series that seeks to melt those writer's blocks! We'll focus on process instead of results, using prompts, discussions and other tools to get words flowing. Facilitators from the Regina Word Up community will incorporate their experience with spoken word and/or other forms of writing to build space for learning from ourselves and each other in a supportive, interactive environment. All levels for experience and participation are welcome.

Regina Word Up: Prairie Word Jams & Community Stage
Friday, Sept. 29 – 8:00 to 11:00 pm
Creative City Centre
1843 Hamilton Street

A community stage is an opportunity to share work with our community in an open mic format. No scores and all support, this event is a great opportunity for folks who want more exposure or practice, or want to share something that doesn't usually fit within our regular poetry slams. There is a gentle time limit of five minutes per person to allow enough time for all of our community.

Pop Up Downtown

Friday, Sept. 29 – 3:00 to 4:30 pm

Regina Downtown Business Improvement District Office

1822 Scarth Street – Start of Walking Tour

The theme of Looking/Watching/Seeing was chosen to encourage viewers to look at downtown Regina in new ways. No two days in downtown Regina are the same. As we go about our daily business, we follow different paths and have unique encounters. People come and go, seasons change, and buildings are updated or removed. The changes never end. The artists' work challenges viewers to explore downtown in a revitalized way. We will walk through downtown Regina to visit the seven art installations and learn about each from the individual artists' perspectives.
