

Columbus Metropolitan Library invites you to Celebrate Columbus' African-American History

Columbus has a rich and diverse local history. We're preserving it for future generations with our African-American Collection, which includes local businesses, artists and musicians.

Come learn the role neighborhoods have played within the African-American community and celebrate Aminah Robinson's inspiring work which featured several influential areas. W.-Amanze M. Pinckney will talk about his cousin Aminah Robinson's work and how she captured neighborhoods. Julialynne Walker will reflect on the impact of neighborhoods and highlight the importance of preserving it for future generations.

Refreshments will be provided. Bring your photos and letters and we'll scan them during the event.

For more information:

digital-collections.columbuslibrary.org

Thursday, February 18, 5:30 p.m.

Driving Park Branch, 1422 E. Livingston Ave.

columbuslibrary.org | 614-645-2275

