Portable ramps

Portable folding ramps (sometimes called suitcase ramps) can help move a scooter or wheelchair into the back of a van with ease. It can also be used to help scooter or wheelchair users navigate a shallow set of steps into their home or out in their community. They fold neatly for storage and portability. ### Vertical Platform and Inclined Lifts

A ramp substitution, when yard or garage space is limited, the vertical platform lift (VPL) is a perfect product choice. Made from lightweight aluminum construction, the 750# weight capacity is never compromised. Power outage? No problem. The DC powered unit, when fully charged, will run approximately three complete fully loaded cycles on battery power.

The Inclined Platform Lift (IPL) carries a passenger and their wheelchair up and down a single flight of straight stairs. Traveling along a rail system mounted along the side of the stairs, this lift is suitable for home or commercial applications. This lift is well suited for environments where an elevator or vertical lift can not be easily accommodated.
