WHOLE EARTH & SEA™

Caring is in Our Nature

If nature had a voice, she would tell you to eat your vegetables—just like your mom! Nature intended us to consume foods in whole form because of the vitamins, minerals, phytonutrients, antioxidants, and enzymes contained within them.

Isn't it great to know that Natural Factors Whole Earth and Sea supplements start from organically grown raw materials using "Farm Fresh Factors" and other whole food sources? Then, they process the nutrient-dense whole plants with unique "EnviroSimplex" technology to preserve and create vital bioenergetic blends of vitamins, minerals, enzymes, and phytonutrients into whole food goodness. They take many steps to support your good health and protect the environment.

- Heirloom Seeds (Organic, non-GMO participate in heirloom seed-saving programs)
- Factors Farms (organic farms use only compost from nitrogen-rich sea plants as fertilizer and pesticides; even permissible organic pesticides are NEVER used, protecting the earth and groundwater for future generations)
- Hand Harvested (freshly picked and processed within hours for peak power. They even weed by hand!)
- Raw Processed (gentle low-temp blending)
- Sustainably Packaged (Heat, UV and O2 protection – packaged in protective glass bottles with toxin-free outer packaging made of 100% recycled material)
- Natural Vitality (Bio-enhanced, phytonutrient-rich blends – to enhance the nutritional benefits of all the vitamins and minerals they contain.

Natural Factors Whole Earth & Sea supplements are derived from whole food sources that capture the vibrant energy of nature in each whole food tablet. They work synergistically to give your body the nutrition required for optimal health and possess a "wholistic" effect to allow the components to work more effectively. The best part? Natural Factors Whole Earth and Sea is a leader in the natural health industry when it comes to supporting environmental protection and protecting ecosystems.
